Innovation & Service Improvement in Healthcare: Negotiating New Landscapes

Course Director: Dr. Chris Subbe

Are you a Clinical Leader who has recently been appointed to a senior leadership position? Or perhaps you are contemplating applying for a new role. We welcome all those working in senior leadership positions in the health service.

The three day course will explore and better understand two contrasting landscapes, one continuously shifting and changing (The NHS), the other apparently fixed and permanent, but also in a permanent state of flux. (Snowdonia). The three day course includes a mix of classroom and group activities and guided mountain walks. The aim is to enjoy ourselves as we make new friendships, develop new knowledge and skills, and learn about innovation and service improvement in health care.

By the end of the course, we will:

Be able to define innovation & describe its main feature

Have insight & knowledge of the principles of mountain safety

Have developed analytical & skills essential to setting up new service improvement projects

Have reflected long & hard on our own clinical practice, through the lens of the course project studies

Understand the importance of work-life balance and mental health for sustainable improvement

Have improved & refined our own service or innovation projects, following expert feedback from the other delegates in their Project Advisory Group
