Consequences of not meeting Conditions

11. Variations to the Contract

How we can make changes to the Contract and how this may affect you.

- a) Whilst the University will always try to minimise making changes to the Contract (including changes to the services and/or programmes), there may be times where changes are needed. This clause 11 describes the circumstances when we can make changes, as well as providing you with further information about what we will do where we look to make such changes.

Changes to pre-Contract information (e.g. prospectus information)

- b) If any information that we may have given to you during the current recruitment and admission cycle (during which time you may have been researching the University and making an application for the programme) changes by the time we send out our Offer, those changes will be reflected in the programme Offer information, which will be provided to the offer holder, as soon as is reasonably practical, after the Offer has been issued.
- c) By accepting our Offer, you will be confirming that you are accepting our Offer on the basis of the changes documented in the Offer. Examples of changes that we may make at this stage could include the following:
- changes made in response to feedback from students and/or external examiners;
 - unavoidable changes in our academic or student support staff;
 - where we advised that the programme was subject to approval or accreditation at the time we advertised the programme; if approval or accreditation has not been obtained by the date of your offer, we may still make an offer 'subject to approval/accreditation, but we may subsequently not run the programme and the offer would be withdrawn or an alternative programme may be offered;
 - changes that are required by law and/or as a result of a regulatory requirement that the University, as a provider of educational services, is required to comply with or as a result of government or regulatory guidance;
 - changes that are required by a statutory, regulatory and/or professional body and/or other regulator;
 - reasonable changes to the content and teaching provided on the programme.

Changes after you have entered into the Contract with us

- d) Where we need to make changes to the Contract after our Contract has been formed, we will, in each case, assess the potential impact of such change on the Contract and our students and will follow the principles set out in this clause 11. The University is always looking to improve and enhance students' experience with us, and we will engage in dialogue with our students throughout their studies, as well as with our teaching staff, and will actively seek feedback from these groups about how we can improve our service delivery to our students.
- e) The circumstances that we describe in clause 11(f) are not the only ones that may arise during your studies with us, but these will give you some context as to when we may need to amend the Contract (including the services and programme). Clause 11(g) provides you with illustrative examples of the type of changes that may arise as a result of the reasons set out in clause 11(f).

When we can make changes to the Contract

- f) We can make changes to our Contract (including to the services and/or programme):

What type of changes may be made?

- g) The reasons in clause 11(f) above may result in a number of different changes being made by us in response. We have set out in this clause 11(g) some examples of these responses and, to help you understand what such changes may mean for you in practice, we have done this by referring to those examples using the headings "major changes" and "minor changes". The provisions of clause 11(h) and 11(g) will apply depending on the type of change that is anticipated at the time.

- i) For major changes, we will normally notify you by email or by post as soon as possible, and wherever possible no later than one month before we are due to make the relevant change.
- j) If the University invokes its right to make changes in accordance with the above, it shall take all reasonable steps to notify the affected students and minimise any disruption to their studies.
- k) The University has a Student Protection Plan in place which outlines the risks to the continuation of student's study, the mitigation measures in order to protect students, and the measures it will enact should these outcomes evolve.

 - Post-registration: by following the formal permanent withdrawal process here.

You may be entitled to an appropriate proportional refund of the Fees you have paid to us.

 - provide information on any options and/or alternatives available to them;
 - where appropriate, giving help in application or securing an alternative offer internally or at another institution.

Changes to Statutes, Ordinances, Regulations, Policies and Procedures

1. The University reserves the right to add to, delete or make reasonable changes to the Statutes and Ordinances, and other rules, regulations, procedures and policies where, in the opinion of the University, this will assist in the proper delivery of education.

2. Changes are usually made for one or more of the following reasons:

- to review and update the Statutes and Ordinances, and other rules, regulations, procedures and policies to ensure they are fit for purpose;
- to reflect changes in the external environment, including but not limited to legal or regulatory changes, changes to funding or financial arrangements or changes to government policy, requirements and or guidance;
- to incorporate sector guidance or best practice;

Wherever possible, the University will consult students, through the formal student representation channels, on the impact of any substantive changes prior to implementation.

Any changes will normally come into effect at the start of the next academic year, although may be introduced during the academic year where the University reasonably considers this to be in the interests of students or where this is required by law or other exceptional circumstances. The University will take all reasonable steps to minimise disruption to students wherever reasonably possible, for example, by giving reasonable notice of major changes to Statutes and Ordinances, and other rules, regulations, procedures and policies before they take effect, or by phasing in the changes, if appropriate.

The updated Statutes and Ordinances, and other rules, regulations, procedures and policies will be made available on the University's website and may be publicised by other means so that students are made aware of any changes.

Pre-commencement of Programme

- o) There may be times where we need to discontinue the programme (or subject area delivery) or decide not to provide the programme or to merge or combine the programme with other programmes of study, if such action is reasonably considered to be necessary by the University. If the University decides to take such action prior to the programme commencing, then it will use reasonable endeavours to notify you in advance and you shall be entitled to terminate this Contract by written notice to the University. In these circumstances, you will be entitled to a refund of any deposit/Fees that you have paid to the University.
