

Equality Statement

We are committed to promoting equality in all of our activities and we aim to provide an environment free from discrimination against any student in line with the 'protected characteristics' defined in the 2010 Equality Act. This includes discrimination on the grounds of age, gender (actual or perceived), sexual orientation, disability, race, marital status, and religion/ beliefs. All of our counsellors have undertaken rigorous training and have experience of working with personal issues around, for example, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, race and ethnicity. Please contact us if you wish for further information.
