Careers and Employability

The Careers & Employability service helps students to acquire and develop the skills which will be important to them in later life, in particular employability skills. A range of work and placement opportunities are provided, the emphasis is on the development of personal and transferable skills which will prove useful when it comes to applying for jobs. CES has access to a widespread network of local businesses, graduate recruiters (local and national), voluntary and charitable organisations and professional bodies. It sources and promotes a comprehensive range of local, national and international graduate opportunities, as well as work placements and internships, volunteering opportunities and local part-time jobs. We run a range of events throughout the academic year, including job-hunting skills workshops, employer-led skills development sessions and presentations, and fairs.

The Bangor Employability Award (BEA) is designed to enhance the immediate and longer-term career prospects of our students, both undergrads and postgrads. It offers free opportunities to gain the skills and experiences employers need, based on up-to-date research.

Careers and Employability

The Award also offers free training courses, interview preparation, access to online careers software and helps develop a skills portfolio of evidence for employers.

B-Enterprising provides students with opportunities to develop their enterprise skills through interactive workshops, competitions and test trading activities as well as one to one mentoring provision to support budding entrepreneurs to develop business ideas.

The 'GO Wales' project helps to develop students' employability skills and increase their chances of obtaining graduate level employment upon leaving university. With the support of an advisor, we work with students one-to-one, to explore the best options for work experience opportunities.

Disability Services

Not everyone who uses Disability Services will think of themselves as disabled. We use this single term to cover the barriers faced by students with a wide range of physical and sensory impairments, long-term health conditions, mental health difficulties and specific learning differences (SpLDs) such as dyslexia, dyspraxia or ADHD.

Personal Learning Support Plans (PLSPs)

Set out arrangements and strategies required to assist in overcoming barriers. Documentary evidence is required.

Disabled Students' Allowances (DSAs)

We can help students apply to their funding provider for DSAs to help meet the extra costs in organising and meeting study requirement as a result of disability.

Assessment Centre

Free face-to-face informal screenings are available to students who think they may have dyslexia and / or another SpLD. A full diagnostic assessment, if appropriate, can then be carried out by one of our qualified assessors. There is a cost, however Bangor University students receive a substantial discount.

Disability Services

Access Centre

Our accredited Access Centre carries out Study Needs Assessments for DSAs. If you are thinking of studying at Bangor, we can help you to reclaim the cost of attending our appointment.

Student Engagement

At Bangor, we want to work with students to make their university education the best it can be. That's why we conduct a range of surveys and campaigns to give students the opportunity to give us feedback and get involved.

#TogetherWe is a University-wide student feedback campaign that demonstrates how staff and students have worked together, in order to make changes.

Course Evaluation happens at the end of each semester, giving students the chance to provide feedback to their lecturers.

The National Student Survey (NSS) is for final year undergraduates to provide feedback on their time as a student.

The Graduate Outcomes Survey is a national survey, designed to capture the career destinations of graduates 15 months after they have finished their studies.

- Writing and study skills appointments
- Maths and statistics appointments and drop-in sessions
- Study Skills and dissertation workshops
- PhD writing groups
- Online resources

Appointments and workshop places can be booked online.

Our writing and study skills appointments are consistently rated 5 star by undergraduate and postgraduate students, and are staffed by a team of Study Advisers and fully trained Peer Writing Mentors. Our approach places you and your goals at the centre of discussion and can be used to explore such things as writing and reading strategies, ways of organising ideas, planning and time management. We can help you to develop draft essays through to final drafts, and to enhance your proofreading skills.

Study Skills Centre

The Centre's maths and statistics service offers individual appointments and a timetabled drop-in. The service is driven by your questions and staffed by an experienced tutor. Help can be given with exercises, tutorial sheets, past exam papers, Safemedicate, and with statistical methods and analysis (SPSS and Excel in particular).

Across the academic year we run workshops that provide an opportunity for you to explore and develop core academic study and research skills in discussion with other students. The workshops are cross-disciplinary, and as well as providing an orientation to study at University, they focus on topics such as analysing assignments, presenting with confidence, making the most of feedback, writing research proposals, and tackling literature reviews.

Study Skills Centre

Our research writing groups provide an opportunity for doctoral students to share writing and their approach to producing a thesis, and provide an excellent opportunity to build a community and to gather feedback. The groups meet fortnightly and, being cross-disciplinary, heighten the need to develop clarity of thought and expression.

The Centre's website houses a collection of text-based and interactive study resources that you can dip into in order to reflect upon your approach to academic study. Guidance is offered on writing, reading, research, presentations, exams, and referencing.
